CAROLINA ENGINEERING SOLUTIONS, LLC

C2013-10

CONSENT ORDER

Comes now the West Virginia State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers by Edward L. Robinson, P.E., its President, (hereinafter "the Board") for the purpose of agreeing to resolve a Complaint seeking disciplinary action against James D. Joye (hereinafter "Respondent Joye") and Carolina Engineering Solutions LLC (hereinafter "Respondent Firm") (together, "Respondents"). As reflected in this document, the parties have reached an agreement concerning the proper disposition of this matter, and the Board, upon approval of such agreement, does hereby FIND the following:

1. The matters set forth herein are within the jurisdiction of the Board, which is the state entity with the power and duty to regulate the practice of engineering in the State of West Virginia.
2. Respondent Joye holds a professional engineering license in his home state of South Carolina and is also licensed in several other states, but never held a West Virginia professional engineering license until the matter which gave rise to this Complaint.
3. Respondent Firm is organized under the laws of the State of South Carolina and is owned by Respondent Joye.
4. Respondent Joye submitted a comity application for licensure in West Virginia on August 20, 2012, after which he was issued Professional Engineering License #019875 but was instructed to return a copy of his seal and the required fee to complete the licensure process.

5. By letter dated January 14, 2013, Respondent Joye submitted the required fee and said he would be faxing a copy of his stamp [seal] the next day, stating: "It is imperative that I receive confirmation to practice engineering in the state of West Virginia by tomorrow (January 15, 2013)."
6. Upon inquiry by the Board regarding the reason for Respondent Joye's urgency regarding the completion of his license, Respondent Joye provided the Board with a proposal prepared by Respondents for an assisted living facility to be located in West Virginia which was dated April 3, 2012.
7. During the course of the investigation, Respondent Joye made conflicting statements regarding the nature of the April 3rd document.
8. The Board activated Professional Engineering License #019875 on January 15, 2013, notwithstanding the investigation resulting from Respondent Joye's request for activation of his license.
9. After Respondent Joye's licensure, Respondent Firm qualified and applied for and was issued Certificate of Authorization C04603, naming Respondent Joye as its Engineer in Responsible Charge.
10. Prior to the filing of the Complaint, Respondents, at their request, had an informal conference with the Board and, after the meeting with the Board, were also afforded an opportunity to provide certain information that may have assisted in their effort to keep the matter under investigation from becoming a Board-initiated Complaint, which information was not forthcoming.
11. The Board initiated complaint number C2013-10 at its regular meeting on March 19, 2013, which was filed and served on April 2, 2013.
12. Counsel for the Board notified Respondents of the opportunity for settlement and, after initiating settlement negotiations, agreed that Respondents need not timely respond to the Complaint.

13. Respondent Joye admits that he offered engineering services in West Virginia prior to his application for licensure in West Virginia license, in violation of West Virginia engineering law.
14. Respondent Firm admits that its offer to provide engineering services in West Virginia was in violation of West Virginia engineering law inasmuch as the offer was made at a time when Respondent Firm did not have nor qualify for a COA because it had no engineer licensed in West Virginia who could act as Respondent Firm's engineer in responsible charge.
15. Respondents state that no work was done on the project until Respondent Joye was licensed and Respondent Firm had applied for its COA.
16. The Board has taken into account the following factors in reaching this settlement: Respondents applying for the necessary credentials to practice and offer to practice engineering in West Virginia, at which time Respondents self-reported their unlicensed offer of same; the different accounts of what transpired when and Respondents' inability to provide proof of some of those accounts; Respondents' cooperation in the prompt resolution of this Complaint; and the nature of the violation, which did not pose a harm to the public.
17. The Board, in its discretion, will not assess administrative costs although it is within its power to assess such costs and administrative costs were incurred in the investigation, initiation and resolution of this complaint.

In determining the amount of a civil penalty to be assessed, the Board may consider such factors as the circumstances leading to the violation; the nature and severity of the violation and the risk of harm to the public; the extent to which the cited person or firm has cooperated with the Board and the Board's investigation; and other matters as may be appropriate.
